

the ROSETTE

www.ocgc.org

October, 2005

Greg Coleman 1949-2005

"That's the magic about music," Coleman said in a 2004 Register interview. "It's a language, but it says something different to every single person, depending on what's in their heart."

Please visit www.helpgregcoleman.com, for more information regarding Greg's UCI degree petition.

A Letter from the New President

Since 1967 the Orange County Guitar Circle has helped bring the magical sounds of live classical guitar music to Orange County. We can look back with pride at a history of presenting many fine professional concerts and a history of providing a place where many students have learned the art of performing live music on guitar. We opened the 2005-2006 season with a healthy membership and another great concert series

Some of our members who regularly attend are familiar faces who support the organization year after year with their attendance and appreciation. The membership is the organization and we have all been part of this history of guitar music in Orange County. Many members have served on the OCGC board of directors over the decades since it was founded. This year, we have a few small changes to the board of directors.

I became a member of the OCGC back in the 1970's when I first began private classical guitar lessons. Little did I know that some day I would be writing this letter to the OCGC membership as the president for the 2005-2006 season. I am following Lee Zimmer who served as president for the last nine seasons and remains on the board of directors. Perhaps someone who joins this year will be the President one day and read this letter in an OCGC online archive.

<Continued On page 2>

Month to Month

September 17th marked the opening of the Orange County Guitar Society '05-'06 season. Recording artist Eduardo Pasquel christened the year with an eclectic recital, filled with music from a myriad of periods. Included in the program were several South American gems. During these pieces the artist portrayed an understanding of the lighthearted character of the works and emphasized their carefree attitude. He managed to achieve all of this within the framework of a very demanding evening.

Our next program brings the first of the OCGC's Showcase Recitals. A full night of music is planned and the lineup includes our very own members. I look forward to seeing everyone at the recital for another exciting evening of classical guitar music.

Josh

Letter from the President Continued

In addition to the online archive, we will be putting some work into the web site to make it more informative and interactive. We hope to post more historical information as we begin to sift through the records to see what we have that members might find interesting, like old Rosette articles and pictures. The other board members have agreed to continue the work they were doing last year so very little is going to change.

There won't be any big changes at this time but there is one new volunteer who can finally fill the shoes of Larry Buckel who was unable to continue publication of the Rosette. Josh Di Chiacchio is the new editor of the Rosette and this will be his second publication as the new editor. I'd like to thank the other board members for their volunteer work and thank them for the honor of being voted the president of the OCGC, an organization with a fine history of bringing guitar music to the community of Orange County.

Larry Deack

Concert Announcements October

- October 8, 8:00 PM. Oleg Timofeyev & John Schneiderman performing on Russian seven-string guitars, Recital Winifred Smith Hall UC Irvine
- October 8, 8:00 PM. Angel Romero, with the Pasadena Symphony (playing the Concerto de Aranjuez) Pasadena Civic Auditorium. 300 E. Green Street
- October 20, 12:45 PM. Adam del Monte, Recital. Music 3400, 6201 Winnetka Ave. Los Angeles Pierce College

- October 21, 8:00 PM Recital Hall Cal State University Performing Arts Center. 800 N. State College Blvd. Paul O'Dette (Lute) and Ellen Hargis, (Soprano), Recital
- October 22, 8:00 PM. 18111 Nordoff St. Csun Recital Hall. Paul O'dette and Ellen Hargis

More information regarding these and other guitar events in Southern California is available on our website; www.ocgc.org.

Would you like to be in recital?

If you would like to perform on an OCGC recital please contact our scheduling coordinator, Richard Glenn, at rbglenn41@aol.com.

OCGC Calendar of Events

Here are the scheduled events for the 2005/2006 season at Chapman. Check www.ocgc.org for updates.

September 17 Eduardo Pascual
October 15 Showcase Recital
November 19 Goran Krivokapić (GFA Winner 2004)
December No recital (Happy Holidays!)
January 21 Showcase Recital
February 18 Showcase Recital
March 18 Carlos Bernal
April 15 Showcase Recital
May 20 "TheGothenburgCombo" Guitar Duo
June 17 Directors' Showcase

Comments? Questions? Submissions?

As always, if there are any questions comments or concerns, or, if anyone would like to submit an article, please contact me; JoshDGuitar@yahoo.com.

Josh Di Chiacchio

This Month's Recital
Saturday October 15, 8:00 p.m
Salmon Hall, Chapman University
333 N. Glassell St. Orange, CA

GUITAR SHEET MUSIC

For the classical guitarist - sheet music, footstools, strings, metronomes, books, CDs, DVDs and accessories

 Browsers Welcome ***

Classical Music Publications

Sharan Sacks, Owner

645-C North Eckhoff Street, Orange, CA 92868
ClassicalMusicPubl@yahoo.com (714) 978-6413

Sun - Mon: 11:30 - 9 • Tue - Wed: 11:30 - 6 • Thu - Sat: 11:30 - 9

P.O. Box 3512
Costa Mesa, CA 92626